

Student to student against cancer

We are participating in the 'Student to Student Against Cancer' project with the Coastal society for the fight against cancer. The purpose of the project is to raise awareness among students about various forms of cancer. The organisation led by Tomaž Jakomin, dr. med. organises courses for students about the importance of self-examination of the breasts and testicles and methods, and as a result these students pass on the knowledge to their peers.